

MOTHER AND DAUGHTERS DEAD

WALGERING'S ENTIRE FAMILY
VICTIMS OF GAS.

All Retired in Good Spirits—Low Jet Probably Went Out During Night—Wife Tried to Reach Girls and Was Found Lying on Floor—He's Deputy Sheriff.

His wife and two daughters, all the family of Deputy Sheriff Frank J. Walgering, lie dead at his home, 235 West Fifty-second street. They were asphyxiated some time Thursday night.

The Walgering house is a three story and basement structure, just west of Broadway. Mr. Walgering's wife, Regina, and their daughters, Regina, aged 18, and Angela, aged 13, occupied adjoining rooms on the second floor. Mr. Walgering slept on the third floor. The family retired early Thursday evening after a family gathering in which all were in the best of spirits.

It was the Deputy Sheriff's custom to rise about 6:30 A. M. Yesterday he failed to do so, and the maid went at 9 o'clock to tell him that breakfast had long been prepared. He expressed surprise that his wife and children were not up. When he knocked at the door of his wife's room there was no response. He tried the door and the one leading from the hall to the daughter's room, but found both locked, as was customary. Mr. Walgering smelled gas and sent for a carpenter, who forced the door.

The daughters were dead in their bed. They had been killed by gas as they slept. Mrs. Walgering's body was on the floor beside the bed. Evidently she had been awakened by the gas and had gone to arouse her daughters, but had been unable to reach them. One gas jet in the room was turned on half way.

Mr. Walgering ran for Dr. Zeh, who lives two doors away, thinking that life might not be extinct, but when the physician arrived he said that mother and daughters had been dead several hours.

Mr. Walgering said yesterday that he believed the gas had reached his room or he would not have overslept. He has been in the sheriff's office since Tuesday night. He has no doubt that the turning on of the gas was accidental. He thinks it may have been left burning low and become extinguished in some way during the night. Mrs. Walgering was 40 years old. Both of her children were very attractive and popular. Angela was to have graduated next month from the School of the Assumption in Forty-ninth street.

WANTS HALSEY CORWIN'S ORDER.

Hotel Seville Won't Let Mrs. Corwin Take Away Clothes and Furniture.

A representative of Hoadly, Lauterbach & Johnson, acting for Mrs. Halsey Corwin, brought the superintendent of the Hotel Seville to Jefferson Market police court yesterday on a summons. He told Magistrate Whitman that the hotel people had refused to surrender a lot of wearing apparel, lace curtains, furniture and carpets which Mrs. Corwin wanted, as she was about to go to Atlantic City.

"The lease of these apartments was secured by Mr. Corwin," said the superintendent, "and we will surrender the goods only on an order from him."

"Is there any rent due on the rooms?" inquired the Magistrate.

"No," replied the superintendent. "The rent is paid to May 1. The lease runs to October 1."

"Then of course you have no hold on the goods," said Magistrate Whitman. "But I should say the hotel has a right to wait for an order from the one who took out the lease, if that be Mr. Corwin."

"Mrs. Corwin has a right to get such an order and failed," said the lawyer.

"I understand there is some estrangement between husband and wife," the hotel man explained.

"I cannot interfere," concluded the Magistrate. "The case is a civil one."

All the parties went out of court. They refused to talk about the case.

Mrs. Corwin was a Miss Menges. Young Corwin is a son of a former Comptroller of Brooklyn. On his father's death he came into a large property. About a year ago, while the pair were staying at the Marquis Hotel, Mrs. Corwin lost jewelry said to be worth $20,000, and a bellboy was arrested. Recently it was reported that she was going to Porto Rico. Young Corwin has been seen often about Brooklyn and at Coney Island. He is an athlete. Mrs. Corwin is a slender blond.

ONLY A PAIR OF RUBBERS.

Taken From Theater and Returned by Some Conscience Stricken Soul.

The manager of the Manhattan Theater received yesterday a letter and a pair of well worn rubbers. Both came through the mail. The letter read:

SIR: These rubbers you get with this letter I took from your orchestra floor about a month ago. I've worn them ever since, and I intended to return them to your house when I was down your way, but I haven't been to the theatre since. As my conscience troubles me, I return them.

CONSCIENCE.
There was nothing in the letter to show from whom it came. It had been mailed at the General Post Office. No one had reported to the theater the loss of a pair of rubbers within a month.

STEEL PRESIDENTS MEET.

Consider Ways of Bettering the Pig Iron Production—Corey Going Ahead.

PITTSBURG, April 21.—An important meeting of the presidents of the companies composing the United States Steel Corporation was held here to-day. Among the matters considered were ways and means of bettering the pig iron production. The Carnegie Steel Company reported that though it was running each of its forty blast furnaces on full time it was compelled to buy heavily of pig on the outside. Many other things of moment were discussed but not made public. President Corey announced that it would be the last meeting for months, as he is to sail for Europe on May 2.

The Seagoers.

NOSE BROKEN BY FOOTPADS.

Another Man's Jaw Fractured—Two Held-up on the East Side.

Two men who declared that they had been held up in broad daylight appeared as complainants in the Essex Market police court yesterday afternoon. Henry Shaback of 173 Norfolk street said that he had been robbed of a watch and chain by Joseph Stein, as he was passing through Rivington street at noon. He had a broken nose. He was injured, he said, while trying to fight off a crowd that surrounded him for the purpose of robbing him.

Salvatore Glogorua of 203 Christie street said that he was set upon by a crowd while going through Elizabeth street, and got his jaw broken. He was not robbed, because he had no valuables. Giovanni Tramut was arrested by Detective Landers and Galligan, after a chase of five blocks, and Glogorua said he was the man who had struck him. Both prisoners were held.

FIFTEEN MORGANS ON BAL TIC.
Three Families of That Name—Nine of Them Were Children.

The White Star liner Baltic, in yesterday from Liverpool, carried just fifteen first cabin passengers whose name was Morgan.

E. D. Morgan, ex-commander of the New York Yacht Club, was a passenger and with him were his wife and their five children. Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Morgan of Larchmont and their two sons were also aboard and John T. Morgan, his wife and two daughters completed the list. The three families are not related.

Among the other passengers on the Baltic were Lieutenant Commander W. H. Alderdice, U. S. N.; Capt. James Anderson, Leander de Cordova, L. R. G. Constable, George M. Gillespie, J. Temple Gwathney, Viscount St. Cyres, Frank Work, Jr., and Archibald R. Low.

KILLED BEFORE CAFE MARTIN.

Tilted Coat Carri Closer on Driver's Head and Crushed It.

James Keegan, a coal cart driver, was crushed to death in front of the Cafe Martin by his own wagon yesterday while crowds were passing along Fifth avenue and Broadway. The wagon was unloading coal and the wagon tilted back and gripped his head, killing him instantly.

It took fifteen minutes to release the body, and all the time a big crowd looked on. Keegan was 30 years old and lived at Thirty-seventh street and Eleventh avenue.

DOUBT DR. KUBIN'S SANITY.
His Wife Starts Inquiry Because He Has Evolved Strange Medical Theories.

An inquiry into the sanity of Dr. William Karl Kubin of 120 West Eighty-seventh street was begun yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Giegeher. Kubin has been married about five years, and his wife is seeking to have him put into a sanitarium.

He was committed to Bellevue on Tuesday at her request. She testified yesterday that in the last few weeks he has been purchasing numbers of old books and medical treatises and has formed medical theories which other physicians declare to be preposterous. Kubin's reply to the ridicule of other doctors, his wife says, is to declare that they are simply jealous of his greater learning.

Several physicians testified that in their opinion Kubin should be sent to some sanitarium.
